

ANTHROPOLOGICAL DIMENSION OF CULTURAL SPACE IN THE CONTEXT OF MODERN CHALLENGES

Maria VERENICH, Research Fellow,
National Academy of Sciences of Belarus Minsk, Republic of Belarus

Cultural space, being a form of being of culture, reflects the social and spiritual needs of a certain historical period, forms the personality of a particular era, time and environment. What a person will be like, how a community will develop, what ideals and norms, forms of development and transformation of space and time will prevail in a certain time period in a certain space and the anthropological connotation of modern processes is responsible.

Key words: anthropological dimension, culture, space.